VISION
The Business School where the managerial and leadership competencies of students are developed to the utmost.

MISSION
Southern Business School provides higher education and training in a framework where quality, affordability, recognition and customer service play a central role.

BUSINESS PRINCIPLES
Quality, affordability, recognition and customer service form the business principles on which Southern Business School is built.

The QUALITY of our programmes and student services is the product of internal quality assurance processes that are continuously monitored. Quality assurance is further enhanced through regular peer reviews that include professional bodies, the expectations as indicated by both the public and private sectors and the requirements set by the Department of Higher Education and Training (DHET), the Council on Higher Education (CHE) and the South African Qualifications Authority (SAQA).

AFFORDABILITY is paramount in our contribution to lifelong learning, which in turn contributes to the development of a country such as ours. We pride ourselves that we are continuously able to meet the demand for quality education at a reasonable price.

RECOGNITION is reflected in Southern Business School’s status as a private higher education institution and its endorsements from public and private higher education institutions. We recognise previous learning experiences and endeavour to provide access to higher education for as many people as possible.

Our students are special to us and they are the focus of all our actions. At Southern Business School we strive to offer students a superb learning experience through exceptional CUSTOMER SERVICE.
ABOUT SOUTHERN BUSINESS SCHOOL

Southern Business School is committed to “creating leaders” - leaders who consider their future and who will be able to contribute to the development of the economies of Africa that will lead to job creation, social upliftment, wealth and prosperity.

Southern Business School offers accredited quality higher education through distance learning. As a private higher education institution, we focus our resources on addressing leadership in management, business and commerce, law and policing.

Southern Business School was founded in 1996 and is registered with the Department of Higher Education and Training as a Private Higher Education Institution under the Higher Education Act, 1997.

The main campus is located alongside the N14, approximately ten kilometres from the Krugersdorp town centre in Gauteng Province. Southern Business School also has a campus in Windhoek, Namibia.

Southern Business School’s four business principles of quality, affordability, recognition and customer service underpin all our actions. In addition, our principles provide a solid foundation for year-on-year growth in student numbers and continued improvement of the overall learning experience.

Southern Business School consists of three academic schools:

- School of Business and Economics
- School of Safety in Society
- School of Law

With our mode of distance learning, students are given the opportunity during bi-annual contact classes (study week) to interact face-to-face with their lecturers and to discuss their studies.

As customer service is very important to us, we have examination venues countrywide in South Africa and Namibia, as well as several international venues to accommodate our students.

Students receive information electronically from lecturers via MySBS, which is an online interactive communication tool for academic activities.

The library on campus also has online resources, national and international ejournals and approximately 166 000 ebooks, which can be accessed from wherever you are.

Southern Business School has two centres, the Centre for Management and Leadership Development (CMLD) and the Centre for Safety in Society (CSS) focussing specifically on leadership and management training.

RESEARCH AT SOUTHERN BUSINESS SCHOOL

The changing business world has necessitated institutions of higher learning to embark on developing new principles and practices. This includes innovative, practical ideas and concepts aimed at empowering and developing the community.

Research remains one of the main academic functions of any academic institution.

The development of any new programme, subject or study unit it is dependent on research. The updating of learning material to meet the requirements of continuous change in the learning environment requires a vast amount of research from academic institutions.

Through our qualifications, students are exposed at an early stage to the theory of research and the required basic knowledge. Our Honours and Masters students, through their research, deliver effective managerial solutions for both the public and private sectors.

Southern Business School, through its research activities and projects, contributes to the current body of knowledge in the fields of Management, Business and Commerce, Public Management, Law and Policing.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

From its inception in 1996, Southern Business School dedicated itself to make a difference in the lives of not only our students, but also those who call southern Africa home. Southern Business School is committed to support community engagement initiatives that are sustainable and empowering.

Community engagement at Southern Business School is focused on one of the United Nations’ Millennium Development Goals (MDGs), namely universal education. Hence the reason why initiatives supported by Southern Business School fall within the ambit of education to contribute to the improvement of the economic and socio-economic situations in southern Africa.

In an effort to truly engage with the community, Southern Business School believes that a mere philanthropic approach is not sufficient and thus our community engagement is through financial support and general support for community development projects.

The Academic Board may admit a person with a senior certificate with a minimum of four subjects (which may not include more than two of the official languages) passed on higher or standard grade, provided the remaining subject/s passed on lower grade are not a prerequisite for the proposed instructional programme.

If one of the official languages is passed on lower grade, or you do not meet the requirements above, the student will be obliged to apply for conditional admission.

OUR STUDENTS

Southern Business School is committed to our students. With Southern Business School’s student-centred approach, students are assured of the best possible student support in distance learning.

Student cards are available at R150 each - contact the office for more detail.

Southern Business School’s programmes make provision for the learning needs of students and student support by providing the following services:

- Interactive study guides, with application exercises that serve to reinforce and supplement prescribed textbooks, guide students through the learning process. Prescribed textbooks are the basis and primary source of information in the programmes. Study guides contain explanatory notes, assignment and self-assessment exercises designed to test the student’s knowledge and progress. Subject content, additional to the prescribed textbook(s) and references to additional reading, are also included.

- Lectures in key subjects have been recorded on DVD to assist students to comprehend subject content.

- Students are encouraged to email lecturing staff with their questions or queries. Students are also encouraged to use the Internet as a medium for research and use the Southern Business School library service and online sources (e-journals and e-books), such as Sabinet and EBSCO. Students also have access on specific days to Southern Business School’s library on campus.

- The contact details of lecturers are provided in the study guides. Students are encouraged to contact the lecturers should they have difficulties with the subject matter. Students may consult lecturers on face-to-face basis by appointment. Because our students are spread over a wide geographical area, we aim to combine distance education techniques with personal contact where possible (such as email and MySBS).

- Assessment Tasks
  - Formative assessment tasks (assignments and/or projects) are compulsory and are designed in such a manner that they not only test the student’s theoretical understanding of the material, but also the student’s ability to apply the theory in practice.
  - Summative assessment tasks - Each subject has an examination at the end of the semester.

- Subject-specific tutorial letters provide specific feedback on formative assessments. It is also a supporting mechanism in the student’s preparation for summative assessment.

- Southern Business School provides online support through MySBS, a Google Apps for Education platform, which has been designed using sound educational principles. The platform provides each student with a Southern Business School email address - [studentnumber]@sbs.ac.za. This accommodates effective communication with students individually, as well as in subject groups. Students are required to use their MySBS email address and not their employer’s or personal email address for communication with Southern Business School. The lecturer of the subject, who can communicate directly with all the students in his or her group, leads the subject group. In addition, each group has shared resources where students can draw from a pool of relevant documentation, such as tutorial letters, previous examination papers, articles and other valuable resources. In addition, students are provided with free Google document creation tools, which include word processing, spreadsheet, presentation design and other software needed to complete their assignments. It is compulsory for all students who register for any qualification to have unrestricted access to a computer and the Internet.

- There is an office in Windhoek to assist our students in Namibia.
• One study week per semester is held in South Africa and Namibia respectively. The study week is an important additional student support initiative where the students also receive examination guidance. The study week allows students to ask subject related questions, discuss contentious issues and find explanations for problematic study content. Students have the opportunity to meet their lecturers and other staff members of Southern Business School in person and meet their fellow students and form study groups.

• Feedback is encouraged, not only through the various mechanisms listed above, but also through evaluation of study week presentations and lecturers, MySBS and administrative surveys conducted on MySBS.

• Our newsletter, the New Horizons is published each semester, containing news about Southern Business School, the graduation ceremonies and student achievements.

• Southern Business School students have access to a trained trauma counsellor and a general counsellor. Students can contact the office for details.

• Although study groups are not discouraged, the use of social media to facilitate teaching and learning amongst peers may be contrary to the sound academic advice given by the above-mentioned support mechanisms. Be sure to evaluate this type of interaction and weigh the validity of the content in comparison to the legitimate support mechanisms.

• Our examination venues are located countrywide in South Africa and also throughout Namibia. There are also a number of examination venues in other countries.

• Video streaming is the newest addition in Southern Business School’s efforts to reach the distance learning student. By streaming content on a familiar platform, such as Youtube™, individual students can either watch the live broadcast or watch at their own pace once the stream has begun or even once it has ended. A live chat will be open during the stream. Students will have the ability to partake in the broadcast via chat with almost any electronic device that supports internet data transfer, video and audio.

EXAMINATION VENUES

At Southern Business School we endeavour to ensure that our students’ learning experiences take place in a convenient and effective manner - no matter where they may be.

To be true to this commitment, we provide a large number of examination venues for the convenience of our students. Students have the opportunity to indicate their preferred examination venue on the registration form and also on the subject choice form.

GRADUATIONS

We honour our students every semester with a prestigious Graduation/Diploma Ceremony in South Africa and in Namibia respectively.
